

Have you had to deal with domestic violence?

The Utica Public Library, 303 Genesee St., presents a screening of

PRIVATE VIOLENCE

Tuesday, September 5th at 6:30 pm

This compelling documentary is both riveting and spellbinding. Through the eyes of both victims and tireless advocates, domestic violence is explored in terms of the crime, law enforcement, and legal options. The film does not shy away from or sugar coat this important issue and the difficult and sensitive aspects are examined with complete honesty. Several victims are presented in this gripping account, including a young woman named Deanna whose horrific case is reviewed in detail from start to its ultimate legal outcome. The importance of not turning away and the value of advocacy is stressed throughout. A message of hope is presented as attainable.

PLEASE BE ADVISED: IMAGES & LANGUAGE IN THIS DOCUMENTARY ARE GRAPHIC & MAY BE DISTURBING.

“There have been many documentaries on this topic...none can touch the power, sensitivity, and explanatory skill of this one.” - Vulture

FREE TO THE PUBLIC